CMP: INR 599 TP: INR 710(+19%) Buy Improving ARPU drives earnings; higher capex derails FCF

- The price hikes taken in Dec'19 and healthy 4G subscriber adds improved ARPU, which in turn led to an increase in EBITDA. However, capex doubled QoQ to INR113b, which resulted in operating FCF turning negative. Further, the QIP amount was utilized to partly pay AGR liabilities.
- We largely maintain our FY21E consol. EBITDA estimates building ARPU increase of 8% on favorable 4G subscriber mix. We increase our FY22E EBITDA by 5% with higher ARPU increase of 14%, after building in some tariff increase.

Higher network cost drags incremental EBITDA margin to 60%

- Consol. revenue/EBITDA on post Ind-AS 116 basis was up 8%/10% QoQ (inline) to INR237.2b/INR102b due to strong ARPU growth in the India wireless business. EBITDA margin expanded 80bp to 43% (40bp below est.). Adjusting for reclassification in the DTH business, consol. revenue/EBITDA grew 9%/12%.
- Reported net loss stood at INR52.4b due to higher interest cost (up 11% QoQ) of INR33.1b and an exceptional charge of INR70b. Excluding the exceptional charge, adj. net loss stood at INR4.7b (v/s INR10.8b QoQ and est. INR4b).
- India wireless revenue grew 16% QoQ to INR129.5b (5% beat), which can be attributed to the strong ARPU increase. EBITDA rose 27% QoQ to INR50.8b with incremental EBITDA margin of 60% (compared to the anticipated 70%) due to 7% increase in total opex (excl. license fee) on high network cost.
- ARPU jumped 14% QoQ to INR154 (v/s est. INR147) on the recent tariff hikes and healthy 4G subs addition, which improved ARPU mix. Over the last two quarters, cumulative ARPU increased 20%, which largely captured the full benefit of the tariff hikes against our expectation of it spreading out till 1QFY21. BHARTI'S ARPU growth was better than RJio's 2% ARPU increase to INR131. VIL'S ARPU increase is estimated at 9% to INR131.
- Subscriber adds were flat QoQ at 284m, but 4G subs grew 10% QoQ to 136m – 12.5m fresh adds, thus leading the estimated incremental 4G market share over the last two quarters.
- Capex surged to INR113b (v/s INR51.8b in 3QFY20 and cumulative capex of INR140b in 9MFY20; est. INR200b in FY20), primarily due to the India wireless capex of INR70b (v/s INR25.4b in 3QFY20 and INR81.5b in 9MFY20). This increase in capex led to negative operating FCF of INR10b in 4QFY20.
- Net debt increased by INR35b to INR883b (excluding lease liability). Further, QIP of INR144b was utilized to partly repay the AGR liability of INR180b. Including the balance AGR liability, net debt stood at ~INR1,005b against FY20 (pre Ind-AS 116) EBITDA of INR305b, i.e. 3.5x. This should further reduce to below 3x in FY21E.

Highlights from management commentary

- ARPU trajectory to remain healthy, but no immediate plans for price hike: ARPU improvement was supported by no downtrading despite the recent price hike, increase in postpaid customers and increasing mix of 4G subscribers. BHARTI's ARPU should touch INR200 in the short term and INR300 in the long term, which is essential for the telecom business.
- Incremental EBITDA margin at 60-65%: In 4QFY20, incremental EBITDA margin stood at 60%. On a stable-state basis, incremental EBITDA margin is expected at ~65%, but this would depend on the network cost and sales and distribution expense (to drive 4G subscriber adds).
- Capex should moderate: Network densification, massive MIMOs, 3G spectrum re-farming, core and transport infrastructure deployment and front loading of investment due to COVID-19 led to higher capex in 4QFY20. Capex should moderate and would be lower in both 1QFY21 and FY21.

Valuation and view

- BHARTI has delivered strong execution in the last two quarters, with industry leading revenue growth, ARPU increase and 4G subscriber adds. It also has healthy network capacity v/s peers. Further, BHARTI is well placed to drive additional ARPU growth and market share gains given the vulnerability of its peers. This should help BHARTI generate healthy FCF and subsequent deleveraging in the future.
- However, given the current economic woes and market conditions, the next round of price increase could go beyond 6-9 months.
- We assign EV/EBITDA of 12x to the India wireless business and 6x to the Africa business on FY22E to arrive at a TP (SOTP) of INR710 (prior: INR620). Maintain Buy. Our higher multiple for the India wireless business captures expected gains from any potential ARPU increase, growing market share and possible government reliefs.

Other financial highlights

- Net finance cost increased 11% QoQ to INR33.1b on higher derivatives cost partly offset by higher finance income. Gross interest cost was up 3% QoQ.
- BHARTI witnessed total exceptional charge of INR70b (a) INR56.4b toward regulatory cost (one-time spectrum charge) after the recent judgment on VIL, (b) INR8.7b interest provisioning for license fee and spectrum usage charge and INR1.7b related to regulatory charge, (c) INR1.7b toward subsidiary taxes, and (d) INR808m toward accelerated depreciation and other miscellaneous items of INR766m.

Key performance indicators

- Data traffic jumped 16% QoQ to 6.5b GB (15GB per user). BHARTI's data traffic is about one-third of RJio with potentially ~15-20% (est.) lower capacity, highlighting better network experience and room for improvement.
- MOU was up 8% to 965mins.

Airtel Africa

- Africa revenue grew 4% QoQ to INR64.9b (in-line).
- EBITDA grew a meager 1% QoQ to INR28.6b (2% below est.).

Other segments

- Enterprise revenue/EBITDA grew 2%/11% QoQ to INR33.7b/INR13.5b.
- Home revenue/EBITDA grew 3%/-9% QoQ to INR5.7b/INR3b.
- Passive revenue/EBITDA was up 1%/3% to INR16.8b/INR9b.
- Digital revenue/EBITDA dropped 24%/33% to INR6b/INR3.6b with sharp decline in ARPUs

Capex shoots up

Base station addition saw a huge jump QoQ – 30k sites were added (v/s 12k sites in 3QFY20), taking BHARTI's tally to a healthy 504k base stations (closer to RJio). Unique broadband tower adds too were up 5k to 192k. Part of the increase in capex was toward core fiber addition.

Valuation and view

- Expect strong ARPU increase or market share gains: We believe that BHARTI remains in a win-win situation, irrespective of the SC's outcome on VIL's fortunes. The government has been pitching for a healthy telecom market (3 private and 1 PSU player), which accentuates the need for VIL to stay afloat. However, VIL's survival would require a sharp ARPU increase (~50%) along with moratorium of payments to service its regulatory and debt obligations, which could also benefit BHARTI. Further, even in the worst-case scenario of no government support on AGR dues, BHARTI's financial position is strong enough to withstand the storm, and in fact, could lead to significant market share gains for the company at the cost of VIL. In either case, our workings indicate that BHARTI could deliver a marked rise in earnings; we see potential increase of ~45% in our FY22E EBITDA estimate to INR680b.
- Steady market share explains competitive position: Despite the commercial launch of RJio three years ago, BHARTI has consistently maintained its revenue market share of ~30% as against the ~15pp loss by VIL in the past two years. Of monthly 10-12m industry MBB subs adds, BHARTI has garnered a healthy 30% market share, excluding estimated 3-4m Jiophone adds. During this quarter, the company added 12.5m 4G customers (more than our estimated incremental market share of 40%). In our opinion, BHARTI is well positioned to add MBB subscribers at a healthy pace.
- Valuation and view: Given the in-line results, we largely maintain our revenue estimates for FY21 while increase it by 2% for FY22E. Although we have captured AGR liabilities in our SOTP model, we have not built in any consequential benefit arising from the AGR verdict (a) government relief toward industry repair, and (b) market share gain resulting from the weakening third player. While we have built in some tariff increase into our FY22E estimate, the actual tariff hike is likely to be higher. Subsequently, we have captured it in a higher multiple in our SOTP-based model, wherein we have assigned 12x EV/EBITDA to the India wireless business and 6x EV/EBITDA to the Africa business on FY22E. Our TP is revised to INR710 (v/s INR620 earlier). Maintain Buy.

Highlights from management commentary

Key highlights

- ARPU trajectory to remain healthy, but no immediate plans for price hike: ARPU improvement was supported by (a) no downtrading despite the recent price hike, (b) increase in postpaid customers, and (c) increasing mix of 4G subscribers. ARPU should touch INR200 in the short term and INR300 in the long term, which is essential for the telecom business.
- Incremental EBITDA margin at 60-65%: In 4QFY20, incremental EBITDA margin stood at 60%. On a stable-state basis, incremental EBITDA margin is expected at ~65%, but this would depend on the network cost and sales and distribution expense (to drive 4G adds). Capex should moderate: Network densification, massive MIMOs, 3G spectrum re-farming, core and transport infrastructure deployment and front loading of investment due to COVID-19 led to higher capex in 4QFY20. Capex should moderate and would be lower in both 1QFY21 and FY21.
- Home broadband opportunity: BHARTI is excited about the growing opportunity in the home broadband segment, especially during the current prevalent work from home (WFH) culture. In 4QFY20, 60-65k home broadband customers were added.

Operational performance

- Capex: Core and transport capex was used in both wireless and enterprise business. Capex/home pass have substantially reduced in the last 2-3 years. Telcos' investment in core and transport infrastructure is taking a disproportionate share of the total capex. To move toward 5G, more base stations and towers are needed to be connected to fiber, which is also driving capex.
- Leverage: Net debt to EBITDA reduced to 2.8x in FY20 (v/s 4.2x in FY19).
- Digital platform: BHARTI has 150m digital customers on digital platforms such as Airtel Thanks, Airtel xtreme and Airtel wynk. Further, there are 1.1m retailer transactions on the Mitra app. ~60% of BHARTI's entire business goes through digital channels. The company has launched WFH solutions during COVID-19.

BHARTI has a digital team of 1,200 employees with B2C partners across content, financial services, etc.

Subscriber churn: Subscriber churn of 2.6% is over stated due to the lockdown in the last 15 days of Mar'20.

ARPU break-up

- Subscriber mix to drive ARPUs: Feature phone subscribers have INR49 and INR69 plan with no data, thus, ARPU for these customers is ~INR50. In case of 4G subscribers, the entry-level plan is of INR219, thus, here ARPU is more than INR200. Therefore, subscribers shifting from feature phones to smartphones drives 3x ARPUs.
- Postpaid customers: Entry plan is at INR399, thus ARPU for postpaid plans are substantially higher. Management believes that postpaid has higher opportunity to grow similar to the trend in other developing countries i.e. in the Philippines, postpaid constitutes 50-55% of total customers while in Brazil, it constitutes 60-65%. In India, the number of postpaid subs is lower due to arbitrage in price plans between prepaid and postpaid; the decline in prepaid pricing has led to a drop in postpaid subscriber share.

Network capacity

Spectrum holding: Management is comfortable with the current spectrum holding of the company. There is still an opportunity to re-farm the spectrum and the company is looking to have sub GHz spectrum in select circles.

Airtel Africa

- Airtel India holds 56% in Airtel Africa (post the IPO) and it is a strategic investment; market prices are not reflecting true value of the company.
- Airtel Africa strategy: Management is looking to grow profits in Africa with leverage within the range of 2-2.5x with cash flow generation. Devaluation of local currency is a headwind currently. Execution strategies of Airtel Africa are local and independent.

Broadband business

- Healthy growth opportunity: BHARTI is excited about growing opportunity in the home broadband segment. In 4QFY20, the company added 60-65k home broadband customers. Due to COVID-19, the company has witnessed huge demand for home broadband.
- Strategy for expansion: It is working in two ways to expand the broadband subscription – (a) to expand into the top-10 cities with capex, and (b) tying up with cable operators (providing them share of revenue) in smaller cities.

COVID-19 impact

- The company is witnessing huge demand for home broadband.
- There is significant increase in B2B site with growth in some services such as collaboration services, video conferencing, etc.
- Mobile business: 4G customers were more resilient, while lower ARPU feature phone customers are facing significant pressure. The company has launched alternate recharge channels for such customers; however, while some were able to recharge, many were also unable due to the economic impact.

Outlook

- Regulatory: BHARTI expects the government to understand the pain of the industry and to implement TRAI's recommended proposal to reduce the tax burden.
- One digital platform: BHARTI has 35m monthly active subscribers on the company's payment bank with their mobile numbers as bank account numbers. The company's focus is to develop a single digital platform to bundle broadband, mobility and DTH services. This in turn would lead to lower churn, higher ARPU and greater stickiness for the company. Digital connectivity also requires very low capex.
