Volume push strategy at play

Abstract

We believe GSK will face near term pressures given 1) just 4\% domestic volume growth in 1Q 2) high single digit inflation due to SMP and Barley prices rising by $40 \%$ and $30 \%$ YoY and 3) reluctance to pass on higher input costs (<1\% price increase in July) and next round of increase likely in Jan'20. Though GSK has been aggressive in cost savings in ad-spends and increasing efficiencies, we believe gross margin expansion from the current high base looks unlikely. Moreover, the volume share gain is led by 1) $14 \%$ growth in sachets and 2) 13\% increase in distribution (2mn outlets now) which has masked the slowdown impact, despite discretionary nature of category. Although GSK has gained 230bps volume market share in 1Q, value share gain has been lower, indicating significant push based strategy.

The sale and integration of GSK business with HUL is likely to be completed by FY20. We tweak our EPS estimates for FY20-21 factoring in IndAS impact, benefits of cost efficiencies in 1Q and one-off higher other income. We estimate $11.6 \%$ sales CAGR over FY19-21 and value GSK on the basis of our HUL's target price and swap ratio (4.39 HUL shares of Rs 1 each for each GSK share) and arrive at a target price of Rs7972. Retain "Hold".

Domestic Volumes up 5.4\%, 140bps Horlicks Market share gain; Net sales increased $7.9 \%$ to Rs11.9bn. Domestic volumes grew $5.4 \%$ on a high base of $13.7 \%$. North and East markets are performing better than South and West markets. Gross margins expanded 40bps to $70 \%$, on benign input costs. EBIDTA increased by $21.8 \%$ to Rs2.8bn and margins expanded by 270 bps led by gross margin expansion and IndAS 116 impact on rental costs. Reported EBITDA was higher by Rs60mn while PBT was lower by Rs 0.2 mn due to IndAS 116 impact. PBT from operations increased $20.3 \%$. Adj. PAT increased by $23.8 \%$ to Rs2.48bn. GSK launched Active Horlicks with Fiber in South and East markets and Boost Bites biscuits in Sothern markets. Volume Market share for Horlicks and Boost increased 140bps and 90bps to $50.9 \%$ and $14.9 \%$ QoQ. Value market share for Horlicks and Boost increased 140bps and 50bps to $44.3 \%$ and $11.2 \%$ QoQ.

Concall takeaways: 1) Rural growth has remained consistent led by $14 \%$ volume growth in Sachets ( $10.5 \%$ of sales). Domestic volume growth was broad-based at 4\% 2) Ad-spends ( $8 \%$ of sales) remained flat in absolute terms as GSK contained spends and renegotiated with media partners. 3) Direct reach increased $13 \%$ from 1.7 mn to 2 mn outlets 4) GSK was able to manage 1 Q input cost inflation due to cost savings program and forward covers. Dairy inflation is $40 \%$ due to poor rains in west and south while Barley has increased $30 \%$ YoY. GSK expects high single digit inflation in the next 6-12 months. 5) GSK has taken less than $1 \%$ price increase from July in select SKUs. They aim to cover large part of inflation by aggressive cost cutting drive. Next round of price increase shall be in Jan'19 6) Business Auxiliary income grew by $15.5 \%$ in 1Q 7) Other income increased $31.2 \%$ due to clearance of old vendor balances. Excluding that, Other income grew by $15 \%$ growth 8) Market share of protein plus is now $5.5-6 \% 9$ ) There is one-off in staff costs on long term settlement with a factory with some retention cost 10) Export sales increased $15 \%$ in $1 Q$ mainly from Malaysia 11) Boost RTD continues to do well and shall be expanded gradually only in Southern Markets.

Exhibit 1: Sales up 7.9\%, Gross margins expand 40bps on benign input costs
