Comment regarding the controversial Citizen (Amendment) Act of 2019 - i.e. the fake account was opposing the BJP here (even while claiming to support them in the other examples.)

Kiran Verma People, BJP government itself speaks, vote in the name of development. In The Lok Sabha elections, you voted in the name of development and won the BJP. Now you vote for the development of Delhi, bring kejrival.

Example of activity by a single user – who was previously highly critical of PM Modi and the BJP while supporting the INC in Punjab – but is now pro-AAP from a BJP perspective – apparent goal of convincing voters who like the BJP to vote AAP in Delhi – the creation of a new message, but only in aggregate via comments.

In this case, the user had a before/after type activity; in other users the activity is concurrent. Multiply this activity thousands of times across numerous high-profile political pages in Delhi.

Because no new posts were created, this does not fall under CAAP; TI considers it "spam at best"; it's not sophisticated enough for them to prioritize, but it's too sophisticated for everyone else.
