Summary

- Max Life Insurance reported strong new business premiums (on APE basis) growth of 15% y-o-y and down by 45% q-o-q to Rs. 1,009 crore, driven by strong growth in PAR and ULIP sales. Protection business grew by a moderate 7% y-o-y.
- VNB grew by ~24% y-o-y to Rs.213 crore. VNB margin stood at 21.1%, up by 140 bps y-o-y, aided by better margins of new products across categories.
- Company reiterated its strategy to focus on annuity segment (was up by 125% y-o-y in Q1FY23) going ahead. It reiterated VNB margin guidance at 25-26% by FY23.
- We maintain a Buy on the stock with a revised price target (PT) of Rs. 1,020.

Max Financials Services' (MFS') consolidated PAT grew by 90% y-o-y (but down by ~53% q-o-q) to Rs. 68 crore in Q1FY22. Max Life Insurance (MLI, subsidiary of MFS) reported a gross premium growth of ~18% y-o-y (down by ~49% q-o-q) to Rs. 4,103 crore versus our expectation of Rs. 4,198 crore. This was primarily led by growth in single premium (up by ~30% y-o-y) and renewal premium (up by ~17% y-o-y). It reported new business APE sales of Rs. 1,009 crore, up 15% y-o-y (declined by 45% y-o-y) with a market share of ~9.9% in Q1FY23, on account strong growth across channels. Value of new business (VNB) stood at Rs. 213 crore, increased by ~24% y-o-y (down by ~64% q-o-q). VNB margin stood at 21.1%, up by 140 bps y-o-y, on account of better margins of new products across categories. The company's operating expenses (policyholders) to net premium ratio improved to 16.9% versus 17.4% in Q1FY22, aided by higher growth and effective cost management efforts. The company holds reserves of Rs. 500 crore as pandemic reserves and it do not intend to draw down going ahead.

Key positives

- Value of new business grew by ~24% y-o-y with VNB margin at 21.1%, an increase of 140 bps y-o-y.
- Operating expenses (policyholders) to net premium ratio improved by 50 bps y-o-y to 16.9%.
- Total protection business grew by 7% y-o-y.

Key negatives

- While overall protection business witnessed a healthy growth, its retail protection business declined by 19% y-o-y.

Management Commentary

- Management guided for 25-26% VNB margin by FY23, instead of 26-27% VNB margin guided earlier, which would be driven by share of high margin products and balanced product mix.
- Company maintained that it would increase manpower for distribution which would see some impact on prospective margins.
- ULIPs witnessed a strong growth of 21% y-o-y. However, the company foresees the demand for ULIPs to moderate going ahead due to volatile markets.

Our Call

Valuation - MLI's business has evolved over the years with improving VNB margins, private market share at 9.9% and a diversified product portfolio. It is an attractive player with strong capabilities and business mix in the insurance space. Axis Bank continues to be the MLI's strongest distribution partner, with ~67% contribution to APE and, hence, is a crucial partner. Moreover, MLI has been on-boarding newer bancassurance partners and new-age digital players, which would not only help diversify the mix but also provide higher sales capacity for it. Hence, we believe business tailwinds may result in providing a positive trigger for improving metrics going forward. MLI generates healthy RoEV (of 13.5% in Q1FY23) and has sufficient capital (solvency ratio of 196%) and hence it is likely to benefit from the improving outlook for the insurance sector going ahead. We maintain our Buy rating on the stock with a revised price target (PT) of Rs. 1,020.

Key Concall Highlights:

Current headwinds to continue in the near term: Domestic financial markets have remained volatile on the back of recession concerns coupled with relentless selling by foreign investors. This is likely to impact on consumer demand in certain product categories.

Growth across segments: The company reiterated its strategy to focus on annuity segment going forward. Its annuity business grew by 125% y-o-y in Q1FY23. Non-PAR savings rose by 20% y-o-y. Total protection business grew by 7% y-o-y, aided by growth in group protection business while retail segment fell by 19% y-o-y, primarily because of a higher base for retail last year where retail protection demand was high in Q1FY22. Management expects demand for retail protection products to improve in the coming quarters. ULIP was up by 21%, primarily driven by sales in the new product - Flexi Plus Advantage Plan.

Balanced product mix: The product mix stood at Par, Non Par savings, ULIPs and Protection at 17%, 27%, 38% and 18%, respectively. The management intends to retain its product mix as that of FY22 levels.

Distribution channel growth: Proprietary and bancassurance channels witnessed growth of 32% y-o-y and 8% y-o-y respectively. Offline channels grew by 34% and online channels grew by 24%. The share of online channel in the new business stood at 6%.

VNB guidance: The management guided for 25-26% VNB margin by FY23, instead of 26-27% VNB margin guided earlier, which would be driven by share of high-margin products and balanced product mix. The company maintained that it would increase manpower for distribution which would see some impact on the prospective margin. With respect to non-PAR products, margin have remained steady sequentially while it was higher y-o-y.

Solvency ratio: Solvency ratio stood at 196% in Q1FY23 versus 197% in Q1FY22. The management opined that it would not require capital raise for one to two years and are comfortably placed in terms of capital position.

Outlook and Valuation

■ Sector view - Insurance industry has long-term positive growth prospects

Factors such as a large protection gap and expanding per capita income are key long-term growth drivers for the sector. India has a high protection gap and credit protection product is still at an early stage and has the potential to grow multifold as penetration of retail loans improves in the country. Hence, we believe the insurance sector has a huge growth potential in India. In this backdrop, we believe strong players armed with the right mix of products, services, and distribution are likely to gain disproportionately from the opportunity. Industry growth even during the pandemic shows a promising future for India's life insurance sector and the pandemic has highlighted the protection gap in India.

■ Company outlook - Strong metrics; Sustainable growth business

Max Financial Services (MFS) is effectively building an attractive insurance franchise, characterised by a multi-channel distribution network built upon a conservatively underwritten insurance business. We believe the company's strategy to achieve a balanced product mix and focus on non-PAR savings with the protection segment will be margin accretive and is achievable. Going forward, the management has indicated a balanced mix of business with non-PAR at 32-35% of APE, while protection is at 35-40% of APE. We view cost management, re-balancing of product mix, and further diversification of distribution channels are key levers for profitability improvement and add to business sustainability.

■ Valuation

MLI's business has evolved over the years with improving VNB margins, private market share at 9.9% and a diversified product portfolio. It is an attractive player with strong capabilities and business mix in the insurance space. Axis Bank continues to be the MLI's strongest distribution partner, with ~67% contribution to APE and, hence, is a crucial partner.
