

One97 Communication (Paytm)'s Q1FY26 revenue was in line with Street estimates, while profitability significantly beat expectations. Contribution margin increased by 400bps QoQ to 60%, on considerably lower DLG costs as Paytm's largest lending partner is making disbursements under the non-DLG model as against the DLG model in previous quarters. We believe lenders' willingness to offer loans without DLG is a testimony to the improved asset quality of the merchant loan portfolio. Paytm is executing well on acquiring merchants, leveraging its superior Soundbox products and distributing loans to them. With low penetration of loans, we see a long growth runway for this business. The stock trades at 29x FY28E EV/EBITDA. Considering cash on books of Rs12.9bn, the long growth runway for payments and financial services, and the various optionalities (such as BNPL, Wallet, scale-up of Rupay Credit Cards), we believe the risk return is attractive. We retain BUY with TP of Rs1,350.

In-line revenue; big margin beat

Paytm reported revenue of Rs19.2bn, up 28% YoY, versus Street's estimate of Rs19.7bn. Contribution margin expanded by 400bps QoQ to 60%, on account of lower DLG costs. While DLG costs for the current quarter are lower, trail revenue from the earlier DLG portfolio is still ongoing; hence, contribution margin is at an elevated level – it should taper down to 55-60% in the coming quarter. However, the contribution margin will continue to post higher than earlier, as the non-DLG model is contribution margin accretive. EBITDA stood at Rs720mn, significantly ahead of Street/our estimates, on higher contribution margins and lower ESOP cost (Rs300mn), which will normalize to Rs750mn-1bn from next quarter on. PAT for the quarter stood at Rs1.2bn.

Large opportunity in merchant payments and loan distribution

Paytm's merchant device business has shown resilience even during the disruption phase. Paytm has one of the most comprehensive device portfolios, which includes various types of soundboxes and card machines. The company also has strong sales teams for driving growth in the payment devices. On the back of such payment devices, Paytm has managed to create a loan distribution business that offers daily instalment facility to merchants on the back of digital payments received by merchants. With strong portfolio outcome for the lenders, and merchants' working capital requirements, we believe this business has a long growth runway, and Paytm is well positioned to capitalize on this.

Outlook and valuations – Improving profitability to aid valuations

We build in 25% revenue CAGR for Paytm over FY25-27E, with PAT of Rs15.2bn in FY27E vs Rs6.6bn loss in FY25. The stock is trading at 29x FY28E EV/EBITDA multiple. We expect Paytm valuations to improve on the back of PAT swinging into profitable territory, strong execution on merchant payments and loan distribution, and various optionalities. We retain BUY on the stock, with DCF-based target price of Rs1,350.
