Cigarette excise opens pandora's box

Quick Pointers:

- We estimate 23-50% hike in prices of various cigarettes post imposition of new excise rates.
- We expect 12.5% decline in cigarette volumes in FY27 and 2.5% growth in FY28 (4.7% and 4.5% growth earlier). Mix might deteriorate as we anticipate downtrading from RSFT to <64mm cigarettes

We cut EPS estimates by 3.2/11.2/11.9% and rating from Buy to reduce as we factor in the expected impact of cigarette excise on volumes and profitability. We estimate that the excise duty will increase the product prices by 23-50% and hit volumes by 12.5% in FY27. The imposition of sharp duty shows a major shift in benign duty structure stance of GOI which had resulted in industry gaining lost ground from illicit trade in past few years. As new rates imposed are 29-43% lower than peak rates mentioned in excise act, this opens a pandora's box for future increase in excise duty.

The current move takes the overall taxation on cigarettes from 50% to 61%, which is still significantly lower than WHO recommended rate of 75%. Although benefits of lower leaf tobacco prices and some price hikes will improve margins, overall profitability will suffer in medium term. Despite expected uptick in profitability in FMCG and Paperboard, we now expect ITC to post an EPS CAGR of only 4.5% over FY26-28. We cut SOTP based target price to Rs348 (based on Sept27, Rs528 earlier) and cut the rating to reduce.

Central Excise on Cigarettes Raised significantly

- The government has revived and expanded the central excise duty regime for cigarettes and other tobacco products under the Central Excise (Amendment) Act, 2025. This reintroduces Excise duties that were previously replaced by the GST compensation cess and allows significantly higher specified duties on tobacco products with rate for non-filter length ≤65mm is Rs 2,050/'000 sticks, >65–70mm is Rs 3,600/'000, and filter segments such as 65mm and >65–70mm move to Rs 2,100/'000 and Rs 4,000/'000 respectively, with "other" cigarettes at Rs 8,500/'000.
- We estimate total tax incidence including GST to increase by Rs1.2/3.3/4.5 and 7.6 for <64mm filter/RSFT/Long and king's segment.
- we estimate an increase in price of <64mm/RSFT/Long/Kings by 22/38/42/57% respectively.
- This mechanically widens the price gap between tax-paid cigarettes and illicit products, which can be sold at steep discounts. The risk is most acute in the mid-price segments that account for a large part of ITC's volumes, where consumers are more price-elastic and more likely to downgrade to smuggled or counterfeit sticks rather than exit consumption.

Higher Specific Excise likely to put pressure on profitability

- We estimate that RSFT/longs and Kings are ~55% of cigarette volumes for ITC which will see significant price increase. Although price increase will be ~22% for <64mm, some downtrading from RSFT to this segment seems likely.
- We believe mix might see some deterioration with higher decline in longs and king's segment.
- We expect the industry to increase prices to pass on the excise hike, which will impact volumes in the near to medium term.

Excise duty implementation opens a pandora's box

We believe that current excise duty changes open a pandora box as the rates of excise under the new ACT are 29-43% higher than the rates imposed as of now. So, there is always a possibility that GOI might try to tinker with rates in the coming years.

GOI has been after illicit cigarettes and kept benign taxation over past few years which resulted in volumes comes to organised players. However, this move shows a change in policy quite detrimental to the interests of the industry and its growth prospects in coming years.

Exhibit 3: Excise act leaves room for further tax increases by 29%-43%.

RSP-Based GST Valuation Reduces Pricing Flexibility

The latest increase in cigarette taxes via higher specific excise duties and the shift to RSP-based GST valuation raises the all-in retail price of cigarettes while significantly reducing pricing and trade-margin flexibility for organized players.

- With GST now deemed on RSP less tax, flexibility around ex-factory pricing, trade margins and promotional discounts is materially reduced.
- Any upward revision in printed MRP including post-printing sticker changes will automatically increases the GST base, raising the effective tax incidence on price actions.
- "Hidden" margin adjustments become tax-visible, limiting tactical levers historically used by manufacturers.
